Technologent's modernization services allowed client to reduce development time by 90%, added velocity to onboarding of new customers and provided the agility to integrate new business acquisitions.

Situation

- ❑ Financial Services Organization was rapidly growing through acquisition- growing from 1500 employees to over 8,000 employees

- ❑ Client had a legacy methodology that did not allow for enforcement of standards, consistent configurations and deployments, lacked security oversight, and required manual intervention throughout multiple stages in the deployment process

- ❑ Enhanced governance, FinOps, and Automation were needed to support their business

Impact

- ➢ Inability to rapidly and consistently deploy environments, prevented development teams from maintaining pace with business demands

- ➢ Development teams could not efficiently iterate through development, test, and validation cycles

- ➢ Client's competitive advantage was threatened by daily loss of productivity, internal customer dissatisfaction, and inability to meet business deadlines

Resolution

- ✓ Technologent provided an Application & Infrastructure CI/CD Pipeline assessment, recommendations, tooling optimization/rationalization, and implementations which resulted in a finely tuned framework for the client. This supported their need for rapid evolution and deployment of application stacks

- ✓ Modernization services allowed client to add velocity to onboarding of new customers and provided the agility to integrate new business acquisitions, resulting in 90% reduction in code deployment time

- ✓ Client's legacy development process was transformed into a modern IAC pipeline resulting in self-service catalogs, governance, security scanning, linting, versioning and automated provisioning and deployment

- ✓ Technologent evaluated the existing environment, highlighting components that worked well, identified gaps, planned for integration of required tool sets while rationalizing the elimination of unnecessary software, saving the client money on subscriptions

- ✓ In addition to technical implementation, Technologent guided the client into a new day 2 operational model
